

Action for Change through Community Organising

This interactive one-day course will explore how you can make change for good through collective action. You will explore the different types of action you can take, from DIY action to campaigning, explore stories of action and success factors and learn how to develop a strategy for change based on listening, building people power, leadership and picking tactics and methods for action.

On this course we get to the heart of the action. What can we do together to create change in our neighbourhoods and communities? How do we know what is the right action to take? How do we mobilise our network of people? How do we work together to lead change? Learn about calling people to action through stories and how community organising enables people to lead and support action which makes them feel powerful together.

During this course you will

- explore what motivates people to take action in their community
- explore the purpose of action in community organising and different types of organised action
- learn to develop a power map and a strategy for action
- develop your confidence in leading collective action
- learn the importance of reflecting on action

More information

The course also provides a reminder of the basics of community organising, which are covered in our Introduction to Community Organising course. If you haven't been on our Introduction course, we would encourage you to do this before signing up to our Action course.

The course lasts for 7.5 hours. Like all of our training, it is inspiring and interactive. It is designed so that everybody can take part, share their ideas and experiences and practice their skills.

"I enjoyed the discussions about power, they gave me a better understanding about society and empowering people."

This course is run by Community Organisers Ltd for Brighton and Hove Community Land Trust and funded by DCMS as part of the Community Organisers Expansion programme.

The course trainers are experienced and committed Community Organisers. The course is approved as quality training provision by the Skills and Education Group and as approved CPD. All participants receive a Certificate of Participation.

Further one-day courses are available focusing on practical aspects of community organising, plus longer courses for those who want to train as fully qualified community organisers.
